Label: Great Stuff

Format: Single

Genre: House

Munich`s finest Great Stuff reprise their Roots Edition series with another re-release of a classic, complete with modern remixes to bring it into 2009. Finnish producer Sasu Ripatti`s Tessio was first released on Force Tracks in 2001, after appearing on the first of his accomplished deep house long players the year before. At its heart is twelve minutes of sublime vocal-led grooves, which sounds as fresh today as the first day it was released.

The remixes are three of high quality from a pair of exciting new producers that have surfaced in the second half of the 00s. Stimming`s wonderful remix of Manuel Tur`s Vabanque was one of the tracks of 2008, and here both his dub and vocal remix reinforce his obvious skills. Deep and sumptuous, they are a thoroughly modern take on the genre. Englishmen Spektre hit the other end of the scale with an energetic, amped-up rework of minimalism, with snippets of the vocal inhabiting the track as it fizzes along.
